V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations

1. Reference is made to document EP-A-0361799 (D1).

2. Novelty

a. D1 discloses a soundproofing floor covering, in particular for motor vehicles, the floor covering having a carpet layer, which comprises a base support on the rear side, and an underlayer which is bonded to the rear side of the carpet layer by a hot-melt-type adhesive applied in several stages.

The features in the characterizing part of claim 1 are not known from D1 and hence the subject matter of claim 1 is novel.

b. Claims 2 to 18 are dependent on claim 1 and hence likewise meet the PCT novelty requirements.

3. Inventive step

a. In the case of the layered structure (floor covering) known from D1 (see in particular figure 1), a base support is first produced as "carpet base 12".

This base support, as a prefabricated product, consists of a carpet layer that comprises on one side a support layer and of a layer (precoat of latex 24) which is applied to the support layer side remote from the carpet layer to integrate the filament (20) into the support layer (primary backing 25).

The problem with the layered structure (floor covering) known from D1 as concerns the production of soundproofing is that the floor covering is heavy and requires a relatively complex and expensive production method: the base support (12) is produced first - the layer (24) is applied to the support layer (22) as the first stage of the production method - and it is solely laminated integrally to the layer (nonwoven layer 14) by means of a layer of adhesive (adhesive layer 16).

The solution to this problem is provided in the characterizing part of claim 1: the hot-melt-type adhesive layers (5 and 6) - with different average melt-flow rates and melting points - are applied in the same method (two stages); see in particular figure 3.

The prior art neither discloses nor suggests this solution. Therefore the subject matter of claim 1 is inventive.

b. Claims 2 to 18 are dependent on claim 1 and hence likewise meet the PCT inventive step requirements.

4. Industrial applicability

The subject matter of claims 1 to 18 can be used in particular in the automotive industry.
